BETHEL BICENTENNIAL WEEKEND -- 1996

THE COLORS LED THE WAY for Saturday's Bicentennial Parade (above left). Barb Lucas' porch (above right) afforded an excellent view for Mary Champe, Wilder Kimball, Erma Hutchins, Betsy Baker and their friends. Here, a Berry Big World floats by, but the porch was also a great place for watching the evening's spectacular fireworks finale. Cathy and Catelynn Bennett, John Dickson, and Wendy Rice and Kathy Trefethen (middle left) rode the Key Bank float (so did Kathy's son, Ryan, but he was up front). The parade included Bethel's most senior citizens, grand marshalls Millie Wentzell, Phil Daye and Bill Young; and some of its youngest, like these on the Country Kids' float. Traditional crafts demonstrated Saturday at the Moses Mason House included quilting (Mabel Kennett, Shireen Vincent, June Abbott and others), hand shaping a canoe paddle (Jeff Peterson), and many other venerable acquired skills. The Mahosuc Music Makers (lower right) were one of a variety of musical ensembles who entertained. The celebration concluded Sunday (lower left) at the West Bethel Union Church, where Rob Lively, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at UMF, discussed continuity and change in Maine religion.

A Real Happy Birthday

Months of planning and hard work culminated this past weekend with a birthday celebration that did this "Town Upon a River" proud. Friday night's stage setter was a pageant in which more than 100 participants (in front of and behind the scenes) brought to life 200-plus years of local history. The house at Bingham Hall was full, the audience enthusiastic.

The pageant was followed Saturday by a parade that was, by consensus, one of the best in memory. And the weather smiled throughout the day as residents and visitors alike enjoyed a variety of historical and communal activities. The evening's fireworks finale was perhaps the most sparkling to ever have brightened the sky over Bethel.

The celebration wrapped up Sunday with a centennial program at the West Bethel Union Church. Rob Lively, dean of arts and humanities at the University of Maine at Farmington, spoke to those assembled on the apt theme of continuity and change in Maine religion.

The weekend's events marked the high point of Bethel's Bicentennial Celebration, but there is still more to come. On Sunday, Aug. 18 there will be house and garden tours, also a service in the Bridge Street clearing near the first site of the West Parish Congregational Church. The church will continue its bicentennial celebration with a number of events during September.

And throughout the remainder of the bicentennial year, educational exhibits will be on display at the Moses Mason House.

Congratulations to all who have made this terrific birthday celebration possible. They have launched Bethel in spectacular fashion into its third century

And we also extend The Citizen's congratulations to Robert and Mary Billings of Bryant Pond and Stanley Howe of Bethel. The Billings and Dr. Howe brought in tickets printed by the newspaper in 1896. That year each ticket was good for a free subscription; this year it was good for another free subscription, and for $50 -- to go toward a free dinner or whatever else the recipient chooses.

Enjoy!

THANKS FROM THE SWANS

To the Editor:

Taking a challenge that is right out of left field, also different from what you've ever done before, can be a good experience. Trial and error seemed to be the best way to make it all work out.

With deep appreciation to Nan Timberlake for deciding to use Sarah and I, and her patience with us through all the rehearsals as well.

Frank Vogt's several evenings of coaching and support really made the difference.

Arlene Brown's kindness and comments were a great lift.

The cast and chorus of the Bicentennial Pageant, as well as the audience, helped to make it wonderful!

Thank you. Thank you very much.

A RESOUNDING SUCCESS

To the Editor:

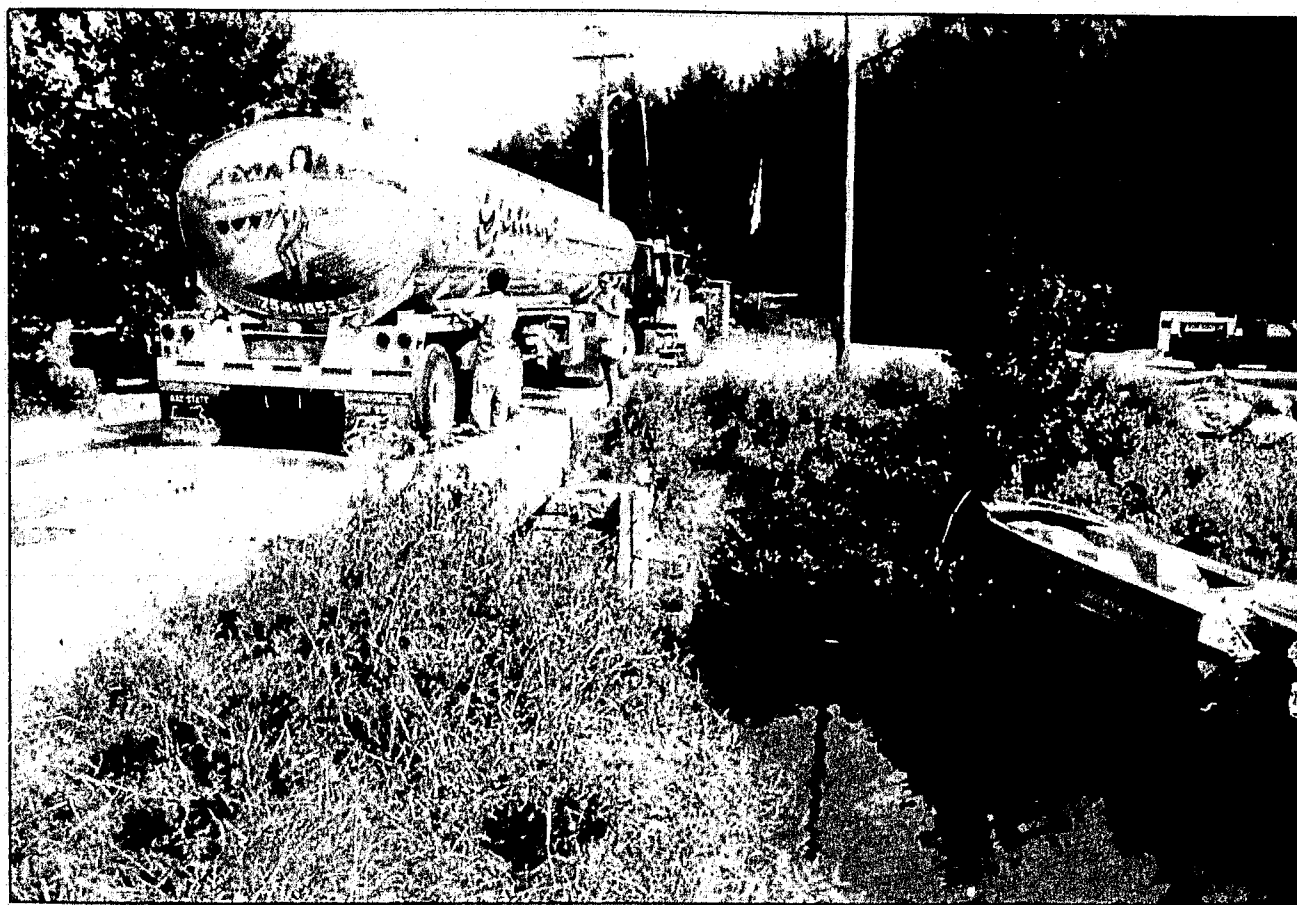

Just a brief note to express thanks to all who made the Bicentennial Weekend such a resounding success. The weather cooperated and all other factors worked just fine so that it went very well. I would like to thank all those who took the time to comment to me and other members of the Bicentennial Committee how pleased they were with the events.

It was an extraordinary effort which began so modestly more than a year and a half ago. I wondered then how it would all happen, but so many volunteers came forward to make the pageant, parade, and events on the common, the grounds of the Bethel Historical Society, and the Hastings Homestead such a meaningful experience to so many people that no one need have been concerned. It is a tribute to the spirit of Bethel people that so much was accomplished in such a relatively short time.

From my personal perspective, the only down-side of the weekend was that I developed one of the worst summer colds possible, which meant it was "touch and go" to see whether I would get through the pageant with an audible voice and survive Saturday. I did with lots of help from the Bicentennial Committee and house guests, but by 7 p.m. Saturday had completely collapsed. I did listen on my sick bed to music across the street on the common, but felt really sorry for myself that I just could not muster the energy to go down Church Street to see the fireworks. Some greater power must have been looking out for me since from my window I could see all the color perfectly and not have to leave this old historic house, so steeped in Bethel's past. This will be one of my most vivid memories of the Bicentennial Weekend.

I hope those still wanting more bicentennial experiences will remember the house and garden tours on Sunday, Aug. 18, and the Congregational Church bicentennial observances next month. There will be other events and celebrations connected with this bicentennial year, which will be announced in the coming weeks. Be certain also to become a sponsor for the special bicentennial souvenir booklet which will be published later in the year and include a collection of photos dealing with the bicentennial observance and the history of the town and what it was like in 1996.

TROUBLED BRIDGE OVER GREENWOOD WATERS—A special Town Meeting will probably decide whether the Alder Brook bridge should be fixed or closed. Selectmen are concerned it is a safety and liability problem for the town. Some residents want it kept open to provide an alternate access to Bob's Corner Store and Route 26. Here, a tanker truck sits partially on the bridge as Phil Murphy and Warren Hood of A. Hood and Son, Inc. fill it with water for a swimming pool. (Photo by Alison Aloisio)

Greenwood bridge on shaky footing

By ALISON ALOISIO

Snowmobilers and nearby residents travel across it. The American Legion uses it in Memorial Day services. A swimming pool water truck even parks on it to fill up.

But the future of the old Alder Brook bridge in Locke Mills is in question, due to safety and liability concerns for the town of Greenwood.

The bridge has been owned by the town since it was abandoned by the state in the 1980s. Made of granite and concrete, its last major overhaul took place in 1921, according to Bob Coolidge, who owns the nearby Bob's Corner Store.

Selectmen are considering a recommendation to either close or repair the bridge, which the Maine Department of Transportation describes as "an accident waiting to happen." The town would bear all liability for any mishaps, the selectmen said.

Road commissioner Alan Seames said ice has damaged the abutments. He planned to get an estimate on the cost of repairs, following a scheduled inspection of the structure this week by MDOT.

Townpeople will likely decide the bridge's fate at a special Town Meeting.

Coolidge and others are worried the town will close it. Some people use the bridge to get to the store from the direction of Howe Hill. It saves them going out into the heavy Route 26 traffic at the end of the Howe Hill Road.

Snowmobiler Ken Wakefield said local snowmobilers -- as well as those coming through from places like New Hampshire and Dixfield -- stop for gas at Bob's.

"You're taking your life in your hands to go onto 26," he said. "I think it should at least be fixed so snowmobilers can use it."

Asked if he thought local snowmobile clubs might find finance enough repairs for a safe snow machine bridge, Wakefield said he couldn't comment, but the question could be brought up at club meetings.

Warren Hood, whose Turner company hauls water for swimming pools, said he parks on the bridge to draw water 15 or 20 times a year. He likes it because he can get his 18-wheel tanker truck out of the way of traffic while he pumps water into it.

He was there last week, with the rear wheels of the loaded tanker resting on the bridge.

"It's about 20 tons weight," he said.

Leland Dunham, who lives on the Howe Hill Road, favors keeping the bridge open as an alternate access to Route 26 if the primary access is blocked for any reason.

The Alder Brook bridge also has sentimental value for him. He'd like it to be part of the current improvements happening on the town common.

The war memorial monument is being rebuilt and the common expanded.

"It would make it more attractive in general. The Legion uses the bridge, too, on Memorial Day to throw flowers in the water to remember those lost at sea," he said.

IT WAS ALL SO PERFECT

To the Editor:

Many thanks to all of those that worked so hard to make the Bicentennial Weekend such a success.

The parade was just great. I have never seen one that could come up to it. Everything about it was just great. The bands, the floats and the horses, also the foot persons. All so perfect.

The fireworks were wonderful, too. Every part of the weekend just wonderful.

Thanks again all of you that worked so hard to make it a day, time to be long remembered.

A HEARTY ROUND OF APPLAUSE

To the Editor:

This past weekend was a great one for Bethel, showing lots of community spirit. All the hard-working folks who put together the Bethel Bicentennial deserve a hearty round of applause!

We would like to thank all the volunteers who helped put the CPS PTA float together and those who helped at the CPS/PTA hamburger stand. Jolene Shim, Jaquie DeLallo and the many students who rode on the float. Because of your efforts, the CPS/PTA float won a first prize! Judy Coolidge, Wendy Hanscom and crew, Sue and Jessica Parker, Becky Bean and Patti Parsons all helped to cook and serve many hamburgers. Thanks Brenda Wright for the extra quarters. Also, thanks to the boys who ran down to the Bethel Foodliner for more relish, and Rick Slattery who also ran down for more hamburger patties and then stayed to cook.

The Bethel Foodliner donated iced tea and Shop 'n Save gave a monetary donation toward the hamburger sale. Also, thanks Peter Gordon and Gould Academy for the BBQ grill and transport of the grill.

Thanks to the Bicentennial Committee: Dennis and Maryvonne Wheeler, Paula Cordwell, Terry Gordon, Mathew Gordon, Peter M. Gordon, Peter A. Gordon, Jessica Parker, Adam Hanscom, Eric Hanscom, Kelsie Hanscom, Thomas Parsons and all who bought hamburgers.

Because of the commitment of parents and teachers working together, the real winners are the students of CPS! The CPS spirit continues to shine through the summer, from the float to the hamburger stand to the fifth grade Boston field trip fundraiser.

Again, thanks to all who helped out and to the many who wanted to but were not able to.

Susan Gordon and Kate Slattery
Co-presidents, CPS/PTA

Jodrey/Hanscom on Rte. 26 committee

BETHEL/NEWRY--Arlan Jodrey was appointed by Bethel selectmen last week to represent the town on the reactivated Route 26 Corridor Committee. Newry selectmen have appointed fellow selectman Wendy Hanscom to the committee. The corridor committee will work with the Maine Department of Transportation in prioritizing highway projects on the road. Possible projects to be discussed include straightening sharp turns and adding truck lanes in Bryant Pond; straightening the road in Locke Mills; and providing access to Route 26 from several sites in northern Oxford County.

Trappers weekend starts Friday

BETHEL--The 19th annual New England Trappers' weekend kicks off Friday, Aug. 16, with a day of seminars. Saturday's festivities will feature a 3:30 p.m. demonstration by Geoff Gaudreau on "How to get Unstuck." The firing of the cannon and kids' fishing contest also begins at 3:30 p.m., followed by coon dog trials at 4 p.m., a pig roast supper at 5 p.m., auction at 6 p.m. and an appearance of "Elvis," Brandon Moore, at the 9:30 p.m. street dance. The weekend winds down Sunday with a morning church service and more seminars.

Police buying new handguns

BETHEL--The Police Department was authorized last week to spend about $2,300 to purchase new handguns and related equipment. The Board of Selectmen unanimously approved the purchase of three .40-caliber Glock handguns with glow-in-the-dark sights for the department's full-time officers, one Mossberg Persuader 12-gauge shotgun to be carried in the cruiser, a shotgun mount, three Safariland handgun holsters and three double magazine pouches for handgun ammunition. Bethel's three full-time officers previously carried .357-caliber revolvers. The department also has seven reserve officers who work part-time.

Special Newry Town Meeting Aug. 27

NEWRY--A special Town Meeting has been scheduled for Aug. 27, 7 p.m. at the Newry Town Office to consider revisions to the town's Shoreland Zoning Ordinance, and to ask townspeople for more money for summer road work. The town's Planning Board has proposed a number of minor changes to the town's shoreland ordinance, according to Selectman Steve Wight. "The ordinance, if approved, would grandfather some previously confirming lots in shoreland zoning," Wight said, "that have been made non conforming over the years by changes in the shoreland zoning ordinance." Townspeople will also be asked to appropriate more money for summer road work. Sanding and cleaning up after winter sanding has helped drain the town's account, Wight said. Selectmen will ask voters for an additional $10,000. A public hearing on the proposed ordinance changes will begin at 7 p.m., with the Town Meeting following. Copies of the ordinance proposal are available for review at Town Office.

Legislature passes erosion law

AUGUSTA--A new erosion control law, passed during the last legislative session, is scheduled to take effect July 1, 1997. It requires a person who conducts an activity involving filling, displacing or exposing earthen materials to take measures to prevent unreasonable erosion of soil beyond the project site or into a protected natural resource. Agricultural fields are exempt from the provision. Forest management activities conducted in accordance with Maine Land Use Regulation Commission standards are required to comply. The law is enforceable by both the Department of Environmental Protection and certain municipal code enforcement officers.

Game farm programs offered

GRAY--A series of Sunday wildlife programs for the general public is offered at the Gray Game Farm. Programs are scheduled for 1 and 3 p.m. Upcoming topics include: Tips on Wildlife Photography, Aug. 18; Maine's Black Bears, Aug. 25; Wild Turkeys in Maine, Sept. 1; Raptors and Reptiles, Sept. 8. Guided wildlife exhibit tours can also be scheduled for groups and schools. For more information leave a message at 657-4977.

Fish dioxin levels remain steady

AUGUSTA--Dioxin concentrations in fish taken from some Maine rivers are significantly lower today than when the problem was first discovered in the mid-to-late 1980s. But this year's results show few statistically significant changes from 1994, according to a Department of Environmental Protection report. The Natural Resources Council of Maine said the findings show continued high levels of dioxin in fish below chlorine-bleaching "kraft" mills and that, for the fourth year in a row, the levels are essentially the same. "People still need to avoid eating fish from the Androscoggin and large segments of the Kennebec and Penobscot rivers -- as well as lobster tomalley from along the entire coast -- due to the health hazard posed by dioxin," said Peter Washburn of the NRCM.

Area towns scheduled for spraying

AUGUSTA--The Maine Department of Transportation will complete its 1996 chemical roadside brush control program by early September. The annual one-time spray application is coordinated with roadside mowing to ensure highway safety. Towns scheduled for spraying in August include Albany, Stoneham and Waterford.

Olympic-themed Mud Bowl

NORTH CONWAY, N.H.--This year's Mud Bowl will feature an Olympic theme when the three-day championships of Mud Football are played at Mud Bowl Coliseum, Sept. 6 through 8. The Olympic theme will be evident when the teams perform their skits at a pep rally in North Conway's Shouler Park Friday, Sept. 6, and in the 15th annual Tournament of Mud Parade, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 7, at 10:30 p.m. Eight teams will compete in the Mud Football event which features games of touch football played in knee-deep mud. For more information, contact the Mt. Washington Valley Chamber of Commerce at 1-800-367-3364.

Fun passes for kids available

AUGUSTA--A Children's Fun Pass benefiting the American Lung Association of Maine is available through all Key Bank branches. The pass costs $15 and allows free admissions to 115 entertainment and educational attractions for children 12 and under, when accompanied by a paying adult. The pass is valid through December.

Loving Louise takes in kittens

HAMMOND, La.--Louise, a miniature Dachshund, apparently is somewhat confused about her role in life, but that hasn't stopped her from adopting four kittens and nursing them. Owner Karen Guaraggi says a false pregnancy, along with the dog's motherly nature, probably led to the unusual family relationship between the canine and feline world. "It's funny," Guaraggi said. "They're all so cute." Guaraggi is assisting Louise by bottle-feeding the kittens with a milk replacement donated by veterinarian Dale Peyroux, who chipped in after hearing about the unusual adoption. Guaraggi took on the task of saving the kitten's lives after their real mother disappeared. The mother cat moved the kittens into a spare tire on a van belonging to Guaraggi's friend. Unnoticed for several days, the friend discovered the kittens motherless and hungry. "We just assumed the mother cat jumped off the van somewhere because no one realized she had moved the kittens there," Guaraggi said. The kittens, all very active and seemingly well-nourished, appear to be about three weeks old. "They will be ready to be weaned in about three weeks. That means we'll start adopting them out to good homes," Guaraggi said.

DEP offers incentive to comply

AUGUSTA--The Department of Environmental Protection has developed a new policy to assist small businesses in achieving compliance with environmental regulations. Under the Small Business Compliance Incentives Policy, the department will not pursue enforcement actions against small businesses (less than 100 employees company-wide) for violations that are discovered as a result of the business requesting assistance from the department. The violations must be corrected within the time frames specified by the policy. The policy only applies to violations discovered as a result of a company requesting assistance, not as a result of normal compliance inspections.

From the Bethel Police log:

Mother complains of close shave

On Aug. 8 at 6:50 p.m. a Route 5 woman complained to police that her son had asked a Bethel man to give him a haircut, but that the man had instead shaved the boy's head. Police advised the woman that no crime had been committed, but did agree to ask the man to stay away from her son.

Monday, Aug. 5

At 1:58 a.m. a Vernon Street resident complained of a loud subject and a vehicle blocking his driveway. Police told the man they could not order the vehicle towed, but the homeowner could request it.

At 7:45 p.m. a Bethel Park Apartments' woman complained of her neighbor harassing her and calling her names. Police spoke to the woman's neighbor, who said the other woman started the name-calling.

Tuesday, Aug. 6

At 9:07 p.m. a Bethel Inn employee reported juveniles climbing on the gazebo on the common and overturning chairs. The area was checked but no contact was made with the juveniles. Police continued to check the area throughout the evening.

At 8:09 p.m. a P.H. Chadbourne watchman reported seeing a young male enter the mill. The youth appeared to be ready to put plugs in his ears. The man told the watchman he was trying to get to the other side of the mill. The watchman asked the apparently intoxicated youth to leave, which he did. The watchman later found a box of ear plugs on the floor of the mill. An intoxicated juvenile fitting the description of the youth was later picked up by Norway police following a high speed chase in a stolen vehicle, according to the police log. Bethel police asked that the vehicle be checked out for any possible items taken from the mill.

Graham to challenge Barth again

ROCKIE GRAHAM

The Oxford County Democratic Committee has announced the nomination of Rockie Graham of Newry to the District 65 seat of the Maine House of Representatives.

Graham, an environmentalist and advocate for the rights of women and children, has been active in Maine politics for over 25 years. A University of Southern Maine graduate, she holds a master's degree in public policy and management.

Graham ran unsuccessfully against Barth in 1992. She currently is employed at L.L. Bean, in Lewiston, and will also be teaching for Auburn Adult Education this fall.

Graham is on the Board of Directors of the Sater Fund for Children.

Maine Initiatives Community Fund, Committee for Safe Energy Future, and is a member of the Newry Planning Board, and the Western Mountain Alliance. She is also a graduate of the WMA Rural Leaders Forum. She is co-founder and co-coordinator of the Bethel Area Poets Society.

District 65 includes the Oxford County towns and unorganized townships of Albany, Andover, Bethel, Byron, Gilead, Hanover, Lincoln and Magalloway Plantations; Mason, Newry and the Franklin County towns and unorganized townships including Coplin Plantation, Dallas Plantation, Eustis, Madrid, Rangeley, Rangeley Plantation, Sandy River Plantation and unorganized townships in southern and central Franklin County.

Graham says the major issues in her campaign are: the environment, including water and air quality; jobs, job training and the economy; universal health care; and support of women and children. Graham contends that District 65 residents need stronger and more hands on representation in the Legislature.

Graham said she feels that the western mountains' region needs to strike a healthy balance to enable industry and rural living to co-exist.

Graham will hold a kickoff fundraiser/breakfast Aug. 17 from 8 to 9:30 a.m. at Cafe di Cocoa on Main Street in Bethel.

SAD44 Superintendent Ron Jenkins leaving

By MICHAEL DANIELS

SAD44 Superintendent Ron Jenkins has announced he will resign, effective Oct. 1.

Jenkins told the SAD44 Board of Directors Monday he has accepted a superintendent's position in another district. He declined to reveal the district until a formal announce- ment could be made.

Jenkins' decision was not entirely unexpected, given recent tensions on the board regarding his per- formance and disagreements over his evaluation process.

Board chairman Marcel Polak said he knew Jenkins was looking elsewhere, but Polak said he was still "very surprised" by the an- nouncement.

By state law, a school district must have a superintendent to op- erate. Jenkins told the board because of the relatively short notice he was giving the district, he would be willing to stay on temporarily after Oct. 1, if a new superintendent has not been hired by then.

Jenkins took over the post of SAD44 superintendent in July 1993. He had previously served as assistant superintendent of School Union 42, near Augusta, and princi- pal of Maranacook High School.

Polak described Jenkins as "strongly committed to education," and said he had "worked tirelessly to implement SAD44 goals and ob- jectives."

"We wish him well," Polak said, adding that the superintendent's position is "a tough job -- not one I'd want to have."

The School Board has scheduled a special meeting for Monday eve- ning, Aug. 19, to discuss what process to use in the selection process.

The district will begin to advertise immediately to fill the position, ac- cording to Personnel Committee member Margaret Hand.

One possible option would be the appointment of an interim super- intendent, but to be eligible for such an appointment an administrator must hold a valid state superinten- dent's certification.

Among current district personnel, only Carroll Higgins holds such a certification. Higgins is currently the assistant principal of Telstar High School and athletic director for both the high and middle schools.

David Murphy, principal of Cres- cent Park School, holds an assistant superintendent's certificate and is working toward the next level.

The clearing can be found off of Bridge Street, near the Barker home. Signs and traffic attendants will be available to guide worshippers to the 10:30 a.m. service.

The class is free to the public and is being given by award-winning floral designer Janet Black. Flowers and containers will be available for a modest fee, or participants are welcome to bring their own from home. The workshop is open to all.

Many congratulations are in order for all who had a hand in the past bicentennial weekend. The tone for the entire celebration was set on Fri- day evening as the pageant swept across the stage at Bingham Auditorium, leaving vivid scenes in the audience's minds of how we have come through our first 200 years.

The Bicentennial Parade on Saturday morning picked up right where the pageant left off, and was as fine an example of masterful planning and preparation as any celebration will likely ever see. The same may be said for the games, displays and functions that carried the day through to the spectacular fireworks shown on Saturday night. Sunday's Centennial program, at the West Bethel Union Church, was a fitting and reflective end to a very busy weekend. Again, many congratulations to all who volunteered in either large or small ways to give the town a birthday celebration to be proud of.

Woodlot owners' group to celebrate 21st birthday

The Small Woodland Owners As- sociation of Maine (SWOAM) will celebrate its 21st birthday Saturday, Aug. 24, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., with a field day at the founding president's woodlot on the Eastman Hill Road, off Route 5 in Center Lovell.

"This is the year we attain our maturity," said Duncan Howlett, whose vision in 1975 was to design a program where small woodland owners could teach each other forestry management skills. "We've been at it now 21 years and this is probably a good time to say to the public that we're here to stay."

The focus of the field day is to let people know what SWOAM is and what it is trying to do, and then show participants what an individu- al can accomplish by practicing sound management principles. "The idea of people owning forest land and operating it for the joy of doing it, as well as the satisfaction of maintaining forests so they aren't cut down, not to mention getting a little something as a result of it, ap- peals to a lot of people," says Howlett.

The program begins with coffee and doughnuts at 8:30 a.m.

At 9:30 a.m. presentations highlighting SWOAM's mission and many success stories will be given by Duncan Howlett, charter member of SWOAM; Fred Knight, the former dean of the Forestry De- partment at the University of Maine; and past and present SWOAM presidents Judy Berg and Ben Welch. After a catered lunch, participants are invited to walk through Duncan's woodlot which shows many examples of good forestry practices.

Pre-registration is recommended for the field day, but registration will be available on the day of the event. To pre-register call Barbara Murphy at the Oxford County Ex- tension office at 743-6329 or 1-800-287-1482. The cost of the catered lunch is $5.75. Participants are en- couraged to bring folding chairs for the morning presentations.

Dr. Arthur G. Gregory & Dr. Lynn M. McAfee

announce the opening of Oxford Hills Foot and Ankle Center located at two locations:

19 Main Street, South Paris

and

offering total foot and ankle care for all ages and walks of life.

Appointments may be made by calling 743-8000. BC/BIS, Medicare, and most private insurances accepted.

TROY WING HONORED

Troy Wing of Bryant Pond was honored at spring ceremonies at Norwich University.

He received the Partridge Branch Trophy which is presented to the outstanding senior Air Force pilot candidate at Norwich.

He also received the Zybura Award, which is given to graduating seniors who possess a high sense of humor and honor, an appreciation for military history and a genuine compassion for other people.

The award was given for the first time this year in memory of Henry Zybura, who embodied all of these traits and shared his humor and friendship with others in the Norwich community.

Wing is a member of the Class of 1996 and majored in mechanical engineering.

GREENWOOD HISTORICAL

The Greenwood Historical Society met for their annual picnic and meeting Aug. 7, but due to the extreme heat and a threatening shower, the picnic was held inside instead of on the lawn as planned. There were 18 present.

The society has expressed its thanks to the anonymous donor of a large sketch of a trout (togue) taken from South Pond a long time ago.

Leah Deegan has donated an etching by Robert Deegan.

At this meeting, it was decided to buy a new combination screen and storm door for the building.

Newsletters were passed out at the meeting.

Another one of our life members, Vivian Daicy, of Portland passed away July 24, and a graveside service was held for her at Mt. Abram Cemetery on July 27.

LOCAL GIRLS COMPLETE GOULD SUMMER PROGRAM

Annah Kennett of Locke Mills and Maria Cornwell of Andover recently completed a four-week course of intensive study at Gould Academy Summer School. Students in the Young Scholars Program covered approximately a year's worth of course material in their chosen major.

Kennett, the daughter of Amy Chapman of Locke Mills and Edward Kennett of Bethel, was enrolled in the writing course, with an emphasis on strategies, skills and the revision process, as well as the independent thinking necessary to produce good written work.

Cornwell, the daughter of Charles and Elizabeth Cornwell of Andover, studied math in an individualized program of instruction which allowed each student the opportunity to accelerate and to focus on areas of particular interest.

Tips from the Failing septic systems probably are the source of 5 to 10 percent of the phosphorous that reaches our lakes. When phosphorous levels rise, even by a small amount, algae multiply. The water becomes cloudy and green, leading to taste and odor problems, and oxygen levels are reduced, resulting in a loss of salmon and trout. Lake use decreases and property values plummet.

About half of the phosphorous reaching the septic system is from household cleaners and detergents. Many detergents and cleansers now on the market are phosphorous free -- and clean just as well.

The following will help to prevent septic system failure:

- inspect your tank for sludge build up; pump your tank as needed (every two to three years for year-round residences and every four to five years for seasonal homes)
- keep a written record for yourself and a future owner
- compost food garbage or put it in the trash and keep a grease can ready
- mark your septic system so you can protect it from vehicles and encroaching trees and shrubs
- conserve water, install water saving devices; use non-toxic cleaning products such as baking soda to scrub toilets or boiling water to clear clogged drains
- contact a local site evaluator or plumbing inspector if you see evidence of malfunctioning systems
- install a loam liner for your leaching field if the site has sandy soil; and plant shrubs, trees and grasses downhill from your septic system to act as a sponge.

Ellen Greeke meets Olympic running star 'Kip' Keino

When Crescent Park School teacher Ellen Greeke of Andover headed off to the University of Southern Mississippi in June, to complete work on her master's degree, she expected to meet new people and take advantage of all the educational opportunities that the large Hattiesburg campus had to offer. But she said she never expected she would have the opportunity to meet one of the most famous Olympic long-distance runners, Kipchoge "Kip" Keino.

Hattiesburg was a pre-Olympic training site for athletes from Kenya and Malawi, and the athletes were housed at the USM campus where they also did their training. Keino is the administrative chief for the Kenyan Olympic team.

Keino won his first gold medal in 1968, at the summer Olympics in Mexico City, in the 1,500, where he upset American Jim Ryan. That same year he added a silver medal in the 5,000. Four years later, in Munich, he won a gold in the steeplechase and another silver in the 5,000. He served as running coach for Kenya from 1976 to 1986.

Keino is a very humble, quiet man, Greeke said, known for his humanitarianism at home in Kenya. He and his wife, who have seven children of their own, have also taken in 74 orphaned children over the past 30 years. Five of the children are in college and 18 are in high school. Keino has a strong commitment to providing an education for the children.

Keino's philosophy on life is evident from a remark quoted in a local Mississippi newspaper, Greeke said: "We don't own anything in this world. Whatever we have, we share together. We came with nothing. We leave with nothing."

Keino gave Greeke an Olympic pin from Kenya, his autograph and a memory she said she will have forever.

Bethel's Bicentennial Pageant, "Town Upon a River: Bethel, House of God" held at the Bingham Auditorium on Friday, played to a full house. Nineteen scenes, starting with an introduction by 20th Century father and child, Jim Swan and Sarah Swan, portrayed Bethel's beginnings with the arrival of Nathaniel Segar in what was then known as part of Sudbury Canada.

Each scene advanced to show our town's cultural and educational development, the "Roaring Twenties" and other significant eras up to now, and were skillfully portrayed by a cast of 71 characters, 27 choral singers and 13 behind-the-scenes personnel. The evening ended with a standing ovation by the audience.

Somers and Barbara Wright, Fairfield were guests of Barbara Lucas over the Bicentennial weekend. chanic Falls; Becky, Stu, Kailee and Colin Wagner of Dennyville; Keith Davis of Bethel and Adam Davis of Lisbon Falls. As I walked this week, I lingered at times to notice August.

There is a mel-low gold woven into the country side. The blend of soft colors is beginning. The golden rod is in bloom along the roadsides and upland fields.

The bright butterflies ride the breezes and rest on the milk weed.

In the corner by the pasture bars, I paused to look at a bee attempting an entrance to one of many Turtle Head flowers. It requires something of a struggle for even so strong and vigorous an insect. His weight alone is insufficient to bend down the stiff, yet elastic lower lip. But energetic prying admits first his head, then he squeezes his body through, which he was doing when I came by.

Goldfinches are many, adding a splash of color to the landscape. They seem to find joy just in being alive. Their wave-like flight and sweet notes tumble out, spreading pleasantness. They flock to the thistle feeder, lemon gold and shiny black, so pretty against the green.

The jewel weeds are out, like jewels from a lady's ears.

August, sparkling water, spangled cobwebs, dewy grass, flowers.

Evening comes, it is nice.

The colors on the horizon change from bright to pastel, a rose glow tips the mountain across the water and shadows slowly creep down the hillside.

Fireflies come to dance. A sleepy robin carols "good night."

Our valley becomes quiet and peaceful for the night. August once again.

My birthday was a fun day for I had many lovely gifts, letters and cards. Love from friends is a gift from the heart to open and share for a lifetime. My cake made by my sister-in-law had a beautiful, real, yellow rose on the center.

At the farm "weather" brought a few days of sunshine so they got some hay.

Jennett Holt is a patient at Kennebec Medical in Augusta, where she had surgery on Friday, Aug. 2. She is the granddaughter of Leona and Fay Holt.

Carl Curtis was home for the weekend from Van Buren.

Jane Beamish, Watertown, NY has returned home after a visit in Maine. On Thursday evening she visited her aunt and uncle, Eleanor and Milton Inman.

Ruth Cox and Elaine Roberts watched the historical society museum recently. Attendance was good. They priced the items for the flea market on History Day. The society values your patronage and interest. They try to plan activities that appeal to the public. The Woodstock Historical Society had a successful History Day, with about 100 people attending. President Mary Billings organized the event and wrote a brief history of Woodstock which was handed out to visitors. Curator Larry Billings greeted everyone. Highlights of the day were museum tours, a flea market, craft displays, a food table and a plant sale. The society wants to thank all of its members who helped, as well as the craft people who set up.

Marybeth Hoover spent the night with her grandparents, Ken and Alice Hoyt, on Wednesday. She visited her great-grandmother Beatrice Farnum on Tuesday.

The parsonage that was recently sold is receiving a new coat of paint. One of the pretty blues that is popular these days. The old legion hall certainly stands out with its new coat of paint. I'm not sure if one would call it lavender or purple.

Winter will be here soon enough so we can't complain too much.

Newry Community Church services were held on Sunday with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was: "The wrestler" from Genesis 32:24 and 25. "And Joseph was left alone and there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of the day." Also a special by Sylvia Wight, "The goose story," why they fly in a V formation. Part of the story goes like this, they help each other, if one falls out of formation, two other geese fall out also to help and protect the fallen one. If we had the same sense of a goose, we would stand by each other like that. Amen

The Newry Community Church Ladies Circle met Monday, Aug. 5 at Louise Tetley's. President Sylvia Wight opened the meeting, roll call followed and devotion was read by Gil Sealey. "The cross in my pocket." Sec/Treas. Freda Robertson read the notes of the last meeting, and brought the finances up to date. Bills were paid and a letter from Jim and Polly Browne of the New Tribe Mission was read. They have moved to a new place, now in Camdenton, Mo. It was decided to wait until September to have a food sale. It was reported that the tickets on the quilt are being sold quite well and more are available from Sylvia last two days. However, I guess we should enjoy this summer weather as it will be gone for several months before we realize it.

Peggy went down to the nursing home in South Paris to get several pairs of slacks that she was to shorten for someone. After returning, she went to Charlie and Kathleen Holden's to get items from the West Paris Grange Exhibit at Waterford Fair. West Paris Grange won first prize on the exhibit.

We went to the West Paris town office to pay our 1996 taxes. They always said death and taxes were one of the things we could be sure of.

Mr. & Mrs. Jeffrey Dunham

In a beautiful outdoor setting, Jeffery Elton Dunham and Maria Biane Milne of Atlanta, Ga. were united in matrimony on June 30 at the home of the groom's parents on Knoll Road in Locke Mills.

Rev. Deborah Jenks performed the double ring ceremony. Matron of honor was Marguerite Langton, grandmother of the bride. Junior bridesmaid was Sadie Beth Milne, daughter of the bride. Best man was Gilbert Dunham, father of the groom. Willard Langton, grandfather of the bride, gave Maria away.

Maria is the daughter of the late Diane Milne and granddaughter of Willard and Marguerite Langton of Coldbrook, NY and Fort Myers, Fla. Jeffrey is the son of Gilbert and Barbara Dunham of Locke Mills.

A reception followed the ceremony. Following a trip to New York, the couple returned home to Atlanta.

June 30 was also the occasion of Gilbert and Barbara Dunham's 34th Wedding Anniversary. They renewed their vows after Jeffrey and Maria's wedding. They were attended by their other two children, Christopher Dunham and Tammy Caron.

A very special thank you to our daughter, Tammy and son Christopher. We couldn't have done it without your help.

With love and gratitude,
Gilbert and Barbara Dunham
